

Privacy Policy

LAST UPDATED 1/1/2020

NJDisbarred.com is committed to protecting the privacy of the users of our site. We do not collect personal information about you unless you choose to provide that information to us or you choose a service, that from time to time may be on this website, where gathering personal information is necessary to deliver the specific services. But use of those services is entirely voluntary. The information we collect is used strictly for internal purposes, except as noted below.

Website Visitor Information

During your visit to our website, our web server automatically gathers and stores certain information about your use of the site. This information does not personally identify you, and your e-mail address is not collected in this automatic process. The information that is automatically collected and stored is:

- Your Internet domain and Internet Protocol address.
- The type of browser and operating system you used to access our site.
- The date and time of your visit to our site.
- The web pages or services you accessed at this site.
- The IP address of the website from which you came to this site.
- The website to which you go when you leave this site.
- If you downloaded a form, the form that was downloaded.

We use this information to evaluate and improve the content of our site and to make our site more useful to our visitors. We also use it to diagnose problems with our server, to keep our server running smoothly, and to learn about the number of visitors to our site and the types of technology they use. This information does not identify or track you personally.

We only use "cookies", the simple text files stored on your computer by your web browser, when needed to maintain the functionality of an interactive application and is used only during the session in which you access the interactive application. Cookies created on your computer by using this Web site do not contain personal information and do not compromise your privacy or security.

Information Supplied by You

NJDisbarred.com collects personal information, such as your name, home or work address and telephone number, only when this unique information is specifically and knowingly provided by you, and we will disclose where and to what use this information will be used.

We will not willfully disclose any personal information affirmatively supplied by you, as described above, to any third party without first receiving your permission. We may disclose your personal information if required to do so by law or comply with legal process served on NJDisbarred.com. Other circumstances may occur where disclosure is justified to protect and defend the rights or property of NJDisbarred.com, to protect the personal safety of our web users or members of the public.

Protecting Your Information

While NJDisbarred.com is committed to protecting your personal information, no data transmission over the internet can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. You are solely responsible for maintaining the secrecy of any passwords you set up and/or any account information associated with our website.